Connection to Iowa History

During World War I, Iowa National Guardsmen recognized the need for an official state flag, as Iowa did not have a state flag to fly. A flag design submitted by Dixie Cornell Gebhardt, of Knoxville, was chosen in a contest held by the Iowa Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The design was adopted as the official state flag on March 29, 1921. The original flag design and a portrait of Dixie Cornell Gebhardt are held in the collection of the State Historical Museum of Iowa
