

"Does Not Such a Meeting Make Amends?" Illustration, May 29, 1869

Top of the Illustration:

Frank Leslie's Illustration Newspaper May 29, 1869

Native Americans and buffalo are fleeing in the foreground.

Two trains with large hands extending from the locomotives, labeled "San Francisco" and "New York," approach each other to connect the transcontinental railroad.

Bottom of the Illustration:

"Does not SUCH a meeting make amends?"